Excerpt: . . . 9 Girls attending 11th grade Physics class in a makeshift school established by the U. S. military, in cooperation with local workers, on the site of a completely collapsed school in Muzaffarabad Representatives from an established local NGO, the Kashmir In-stitute of International Relations ( KIIR ), reported concerns imme-diatly following the disaster that orphaned children would be traf-ficked. However, following the Pakistan governments institution of a no adoption policy and increased scrutiny by security forces of the transport of children at security check points, the dangers of child trafficking appeared to be in check. DEMOCRACY There were mixed feelings about the Pakistan Armys role in re-lief efforts, and widespread criticism that the Army had been slow to respond in the first 3 - 4 days, possibly because they were coping with their own losses along the Line of Control ( LoC ). Despite its slow start, a number of people expressed that the Pakistan Army was now doing a relatively good job with relief efforts and cooper-ating effectively with international and local NGOs and...
